ORGANIZERS

Courts

Name your courts once. Referees pick from them and the desk puts matches on them.

Updated 24 October 2026 1 min read

Open Courts. It lists the courts of your venue, and a box to Add another.

Four courts.

A referee picks one of these when the phone asks Where you are, and the desk puts matches on them. Naming courts is optional, but without it the desk has nowhere to put a match.

Use the names people use. "Court 1", not "C1" on one phone and "court one" on another. If a referee types a court you did not list, it still works and the desk's board shows it, because a court somebody is standing on is a court.

If you give a broadcaster the score of one court, the court is matched by name, and capital letters do not matter. "court 1" and "Court 1" are the same court.